...RESPONDENT

CORAM: HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE HARPREET SINGH BRAR

Present: Mr. Vikas Kumar, Advocate for
Mr. Jitender Dhanda, Advocate for the appellant.

Mr. Vikas Bhardwaj, AAG Haryana.

Harpreet Singh Brar, J. (Oral)

1. Present appeal has been preferred by the appellant against the judgment of conviction and order on quantum of sentence dated 29.01.2009/30.01.2009 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Hisar vide which the appellant has been convicted and sentenced as mentioned below:

Offence under Section	Sentence	Fine	Sentence in default of payment of fine
20 of NDPS Act	Rigorous imprisonment for three years	Rs. 5,000/-	Rigorous imprisonment for 02 months

2. Brief facts of the case are that on 04.05.2007, a police party headed by SI Jeet Singh, CIA Staff, Hisar along with other police officials were on patrolling duty and were present in front of gate No. 3 of Guru Jambheshwar University, Hisar. The police party saw a youth (accused-petitioner) coming from the side of Vikas Nagar Ambedkar Basti, Hisar, who has carrying one black colour ploythene envelope in his right hand. On seeing the police party, the accused-petitioner turned back and started moving swiftly, but on suspicion, he was apprehended and his identity was verified. On the basis of suspicion, search of the petitioner and his belongings was conducted. Thereafter, on search of the polythene envelope carried by petitioner-accused, it was found to be containing 01 KG of Charas, out of which two representative samples, each 10 grams were separated and converted into two parcels. All the parcels were sealed. FIR(supra) was registered under Section 20 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter to be referred as 'NDPS Act').

3. Learned Counsel for the petitioner submits that he is not assailing the impugned judgment of conviction dated 29.01.2009 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Hisar on merits and restricts his prayer to modification of the order on quantum of sentence dated 30.01.2009 to that of sentence already undergone by the appellant as he has already undergone a period of more than 09 months and 17 days out of total sentence of three years imposed upon him and he is not involved in any other case.

4. Per contra, learned State counsel opposes the prayer of the appellant on the ground that learned trial Court has passed a well-reasoned judgment based on correct appreciation of evidence available on record and as such, the appellant does not deserve any leniency.

5. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and after perusing the record with their able assistance, it transpires that the appellant was convicted for being in possession of 01 kilogram of Charas, attracting the offence under Section 20 of NDPS Act, for which no minimum punishment has been prescribed. As per his custody certificate, he is not involved in any other case and has already undergone an actual sentence of 09 months and 17 days out of total sentence of three years, in the instant case. Moreover, learned counsel for the appellant has not assailed the judgment of conviction on merits. Rather, he has restricted his prayer only qua modification of order on quantum of sentence. Since there is no minimum punishment prescribed under Section 20 of NDPS

Act, this Court is of the opinion that it would be in the interest of justice, if the sentence awarded to the appellant is reduced to the period already undergone by him.

6. In Deo Narain Mandal v. State of UP (2004) 7 SCC 257, a three Judge bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court has opined that awarding of sentence is not a mere formality in criminal cases. When a minimum and maximum term is prescribed by the statute with regard to the period of sentence, a discretionary element is vested in the Court. Background of each case, which includes factors like gravity of the offence, manner in which the offence is committed, age of the accused, should be considered while determining the quantum of sentence and this discretion is not to be used arbitrarily or whimsically. After assessing all relevant factors, proper sentence should be awarded bearing in mind the principle of proportionality to ensure the sentence is neither excessively harsh nor does it come across as lenient.

7. Further, a two Judge Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ravada Sasikala v. State of AP AIR 2017 SC 1166, has reiterated that the imposition of sentence also serves a social purpose as it acts as a deterrent by making the accused realise the damage caused not only to the victim but also to the society at large. The law in this regard is well settled that opportunities of reformation must be granted and such discretion is to be exercised by evaluating all attending circumstances of each case by noticing the nature of the crime, the manner in which the crime was committed and the conduct of the accused to strike a balance between the efficacy of law and the chances of reformation of the accused.

8. A perusal of the judgment of conviction passed by the learned trial Court indicates no perversity in its findings and the said judgment is based on correct appreciation of evidence available on record. However, the FIR (supra) was lodged on 04.05.2007 and the appellant has been suffering the agony of trial for last more than 14 years. Since his conviction, he has grown into a law-abiding citizen and desires to live a peaceful life.

9. Therefore, in view of the discussion above, the present appeal is disposed of in the following terms:-

(i) The judgment dated 29.01.2009 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Hisar is upheld.

(ii) The order of sentence dated 30.01.2009 is modified to the extent that the sentence of rigorous imprisonment for three years along with fine of Rs. 5,000/- with default mechanism awarded to the appellant is reduced to the period of sentence already undergone by him.

10. Pending miscellaneous application(s), if any, shall also stand disposed of.
